Prayer for her

Lord, may she shine brightly this season, even in the midst of spooky sights, flickering jack-o'-lanterns, and shadows that dance across her porch. Let her faith sparkle and outshine any fear that tries to sneak in, and let her heart overflow with grace, laughter, and the kind of joy that makes even the tiniest trick-or-treater pause and smile.

May her home be a warm beacon, glowing like a sonflower under Your light, welcoming everyone who comes to her door. May her words be sweet and comforting, like a gentle breeze on a crisp autumn evening, and her actions reflect Your love in ways that surprise, delight, and encourage all who see her. Keep her from judging, from turning away, or from dimming the light You have placed within her.

Faith Over Fright

"For God gave us a spirit not of fear but of power and love and self-control."

2 Timothy 1:7
